Summary: On January 22, 2001, Brian Chang, the Office of Ratepayer Advocates (ORA) supervisor, met with Fassil Fenikile, advisor to Cmmr. Duque, in San Francisco. Also present were Paul Phillips and Simin Litkouhi, ORA analysts. ORA stated that the proposed decision (PD) errs in not ordering a refund of the $37.2 million in Pacific's rates for toll pooling arrangements with the small local exchange carriers. ORA reiterated its belief that even if the pooling termination provided for in the PD does not warrant limited exogenous factor treatment, the $37.2 million Pacific will no longer be paying to the toll pooling arrangement must be returned to ratepayers. ORA asserted that Pacific's ratepayers should not be made to arbitrarily fund universal service in rural areas twice. ORA also discussed the issue of elimination of pooling altogether versus mere changes in pooling arrangements.

Summary: On January 22, 2001, Robert Monti, attorney for Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E), had a telephone conversation with ALJ Kenney. Shirley Woo, attorney for PG&E also participated in the communication. Woo indicated that PG&E was filing a petition to amend Decision D00-12-064 to authorize PG&E to use its existing and future customer gas and electric accounts receivables to provide security for gas purchases from core gas suppliers. Woo described the gas emergency and indicated that PG&E was also exploring with several producers another way of keeping core gas supplies flowing, which would use PG&E's customer account receivables to secure payment for gas. Since several producers were interested in investigating this approach further, Woo stated that PG&E was filing for the required authority. Woo indicated that since the gas emergency required immediate action, PG&E was requesting expedited decision on the petition; alternatively, PG&E was requesting a special meeting next week for Commission action on the petition.

Summary: On January 23, 2001, Shirley Woo, attorney for Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E), sent an e-mail (attached to the notice) to ALJ Kenney. Woo indicated that PG&E's second petition for modification of D00-12-064 includes both electric and gas core customer account receivables. Woo also indicated that the petition really seeks authority to give core gas suppliers a direct security interest in the account receivables in connection with core gas purchases, and is not limited to seeking authority to issue debt secured by the accounts receivables.

Summary: On January 24, 2001, Shirley Woo, attorney for Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E), sent an e-mail (attached to the notice) to ALJ Kenney. Woo indicated that the second petition requested authority to make existing and future customer account receivables subject to a lien in favor of the gas suppliers. Woo stated that in the event the Commission might view the commitment as to future customer accounts receivables as an encumbrance on the customer account, the second petition separately identified the customer account itself.

Summary: On January 22, 2001, Brian Cherry, Manager, Regulatory Relations, Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E), had a telephone conference with Trina Horner, advisor to Cmmr. Lynch. In the conference also participated Laura Kranawitter, advisor to Cmmr. Duque, Julie Halligan and Ann Watson, advisors to Cmmr. Cherry stated that the Commission needed to move swiftly to approve the application. In addition, Cherry stated that under optimum operating conditions and assuming no other gas suppliers withdrew from their supply commitments, PG&E would likely begin involuntary noncore diversions by the middle of next month.
